SINS OF THE PEOPLE

The people of the United States as a whole are obsessed with cupidity, avarice, covetousness, selfishness, and love of money. The whole sentiment of the nation seems to be to get back to an age of ease and luxury rather than to get back to the standards of our forefathers when love of God and love of our fellowman stood above love of money. Americans are like the children of Israel of old. They have turned away from the God of their fathers and are worshipping false gods, the gods of gain and gold, which, for the most part, bring unhappiness and misery rather than peace and joy. It is these principal attributes of American life which are characteristic of so many of our citizens. It is avarice, cupidity, and the love of money that are responsible for the kidnapers, the racketeers, and the bandits, and all the terrible menaces that have developed in our country in the last decade. Many of our leading men spend their Sundays at the golf course instead of in the church pews. Pleasure has been a votary always of gold, and both marked the downfall of Greece and of Rome. They are surely marking the decline of the United States. We are headed the wrong way. President Roosevelt is giving the nation a blood transfusion and it may restore business but it will not restore what the people so much need above money. This is a recognition that "There is a destiny that shapes our ends, rough hew them as we will," that there is a God who rules the universe, that the people of this country have provoked Him to wrath and that He is confounding all our plans and bring them to naught because we have turned away from Him. "Money, Money, Money." That is what they think about, that is what they talk about, that is what they preach about. The nation has become sordid, corrupt, and a part of it criminal, all because of the love of money which is the root of all evil, and for these things we are being punished. The minds of men are confused like their tongues were in the Tower of Babel when men left God out of their calculations. They are leaving Him out now and their whole theme is to lay up treasures upon earth. The great thought of the nation is money—money instead of the Master. Unless the people of America return to the old Bible and the church and to Almighty God from Whom comes every blessing, they are destined to fall as Greece and Rome fell.—Elizabethtown News.

WILL NOT SELL LIQUOR

Philadelphia, Aug. 24.—N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., nationally known advertising agency of Philadelphia, has cancelled its advertising contract with Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., because the company will sell beer and whisky after repeal.

That was revealed yesterday by Wilfred W. Fry, president of the agency. He predicted that the return of liquor will "divert an important share of America's mass purchasing power from essential commodities."

Pointing out that his company long ago adopted the policy of not advertising alcohol, Fry said:

"In the case of a client who manufactures or distributes alcoholic beverages, this would create for us an impossible situation, since we would then be in the position of making alcohol attractive to the youth of this country."

"Furthermore, we do not wish to classify our clients with the liquor business."

"This has been our policy since the last century. We believe in it so completely that we have cancelled a ten year old agreement with Canada Dry Ginger Ale following that client's decision to engage in the manufacture and distribution of beer and whisky after repeal."

"We regret the condition which necessitated this step, but on a strictly business basis we are certain we are right."

Fry admitted repeal will bring many millions of dollars into federal, state, and local treasuries, but declared that "this contribution, in the main, will be made by that class of the public which can least afford it."

"The moral questions in repeal can be left out entirely," he said, "but from a purely business standpoint, we still cannot see a very happy result in the return of liquor."

"The liquor business has not changed. When the 36th state has been lined up, it will be run by the same old crowd in the same old way."

N.R.A.

While we have no factories, no large mines, and not much but farming and stock raising in our county, still there is something we can do to help in national industrial recovery.

We can each employ someone to help in the work we have to do, whether in the house, farm, or elsewhere, whenever possible, and pay a REASONABLE PRICE, not 25 or 50 cents a day, but enough to help the man or woman who works.

We can further help by signing the consumers' cards which every person is urged to sign and live up to.

Morgan has had more than her share of help from the U. S. government thru the R. F. C. funds, and should show her appreciation by doing her best.

As we are having trouble getting enough cards, and may not be able to see everyone in the county, will you not, each subscriber, sign the statement printed below which is a copy of the consumer's card, cut out, and paste on the back of a postal and send to me.

"I will cooperate in reemployment by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of N. R. A."

MARINE CORPS VACANCIES

During the month of September there will be a few openings for high school graduates in U. S. Marine Corps at the district headquarters recruiting station, located in the Municipal Auditorium, Macon, Ga., provided they are between 18 and 25 years of age; can pass a rigid physical examination and can furnish at least two letters of recommendation.

The United States Marine Corps is recognized as one of the finest military and naval organizations at home and abroad and is the most difficult to enter due to its high educational, moral and physical requirements.

When accepted at Macon, Ga., the new marine is transferred to the Marine Barracks, Parris Island, S. C., for a short period of basic training which includes instructions in the use of the rifle, pistol, machine gun and other implements of modern warfare. On completion of this training he is assigned to duty at one of the many posts occupied by Marines at home and abroad or to sea service on board the larger ships of the Atlantic and Pacific fleet.

High school graduates will be furnished full information concerning this branch of the military and naval service on request from the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting station, Municipal Auditorium, Macon, Ga.

FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

While in town Tuesday, J. B. May of Woodbend confided to friends that he is receptive for election to the Board of Education from district 2 of Morgan county. Mr. May served a very successful term on the Board some years ago. He has always been interested in school affairs. He was a teacher in the county schools for four years and has a broad foundation in this field.

Mr. May is a large taxpayer, so that his interests from the taxpayers' standpoint are ideal.

If elected Mr. May will be zealous in the performance of his duties and will be of very great help in raising the standard of Morgan county schools.

Big Apples

F. C. May of White Oak was exhibiting specimens of a real large apple in town Monday. The largest specimens have a circumference of 14 1/4 inches and weigh one pound and one ounce each. The apple is striped with a bright red and is said to be of the Wolf River variety.

Sales Tax Defeated

The gross receipts tax measure prepared under the direction of Governor Laffoon, in lieu of the sales tax measure he formerly dabbled, met with defeat in the house of representatives at Frankfort Tuesday.

The governor called the special session of the legislature primarily, he said, to raise $3,000,000 which the federal government insisted must be raised if the federal relief money was to continue to come into the state for the state's destitute.

The governor's bill as drafted was designed to get the state's share of relief money back, very largely, from the men who were to be helped by the federal funds, and in addition from that large class of people who are just on the edge of despair over financial matters but too proud and independent to ask for or accept state or federal aid. More than that, the bill was designed to collect from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000 when only $3,000,000 was needed.

In the primary election held Aug. 5, the sales tax question was a prominent issue in almost every race where a representative or state senator was elected, and not a half dozen sales tax advocates were nominated in the whole state.

But when the primary was over the governor of the state promptly called the existing legislature—a legislature which had been elected before the sales tax controversy came up—into a special session, after having made the statement some months ago that with a hundred jobs he could control any legislature.

But the governor was wrong. Just as wrong as he was when Candidate Laffoon promised to save enough money from current receipts, by eliminating useless state boards and commissions, to pay off the state debt during his administration. Or when he said he would give the state the best administration it had ever had.

A large measure of credit for the defeat of the gross receipts tax should go to Walter H. Sebastian of Morgan county. Mr. Sebastian had just been defeated in a campaign for state senator after taking a positive stand in opposition to a sales tax, although in the preceding regular legislative session he had supported the governor's program which included the sales tax measure that passed the house in 1932. But even after this defeat, Mr. Sebastian took a leading part in guiding the sales tax opposition in this special session to a glorious victory.

In summing up his arguments before the legislature and just before the vote was taken, Mr. Sebastian said: "I agree with both sides on the need of relief, but I don't want to put on the people a sales tax."

In thus taking up the cause of the great common people of Kentucky—a cause not generally championed by politicians—Mr. Sebastian has more than paid for any mistake which he may have previously made.

Opponents of the sales tax have taken prompt steps to find a substitute tax measure and have indicated that they will invite the governor to a conference to consider proper sources of revenue. They say that bread and butter and necessary wearing apparel will not be taxed. This is as it should be.

STOP ILLEGAL VOTING

A number of our friends tell us that it is impossible to stop vote selling and buying in an election. We do not believe it. Just because it is a disagreeable job is no reason for side-stepping it.

We remember the time when we saw votes bought and paid for on the open street. It's not so long ago that thousands of votes after being cast were counted wrongly by the election officials.

The Brock-Gilbert law, with all its disadvantages and defects, at least provides an honest count. When the votes get in the box they are tallied honestly. Five years ago in Kentucky you would have been laughed at if you had suggested such a thing.

So with the floaters. Just think! From 1500 to 2000 in a small county like Clark. And the honest citizens have nourished and encouraged the growth of the evil. If it had been taken in hand years ago it could have been stamped out.

Four years ago several hundred dollars were said to have been spent illegally. In certain precincts of the city there are no real voters. The practical politicians can tell you within a few of just how many floaters there are in each of certain precincts.

We know that if 50 or 100 outstanding citizens of this community organize and determine that no floaters be bought in the city election, there will be none or mighty few. It all depends on whether we are determined to have an honest balloting or not.—Winchester Sun.

LEGION ACTIVITIES

"Brownie's Comedians" are giving fine entertainment every night this week under the big tent on the school ground. This show is being sponsored by the local American Legion and is well worth seeing. A different show is given each night, and many persons who have seen one performance are going back again and again. This is a clean show that gives you your money's worth of wholesome fun. Don't miss it.

At the recent state convention of the American Legion, held at Owensboro, Bruce Reed, representing Holly Coffee Post No. 68, of West Liberty, was elected state sergeant at arms.

Holly Coffee Post also won the prize cup in the Legion membership drive for making the largest percentage of increase in membership. This Post now has a total membership of 191. The prize cup may be seen on display at the Arnett drugstore.

The next regular meeting of Holly Coffee Post will be held Saturday, Sept. 2, at 1 p.m. All members and other veterans are urged to attend.

Happiness is a state of mind and cannot be purchased with money.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Retail Cost Figures

 Consumers of farm products are to be furnished with weekly reports from the Government on the reasons for any commodity prices increases, and with information on who is getting the additional money. Field workers of the United States departments of labor and agriculture are to gather and report price figures, while the Washington agencies tabulate and analyze them. Dr. Frederic C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the Agricultural Administration, has announced. Doctor Howe intends to release the information on prices through the press, radio and special reports to groups and individuals.

 The two departments will gather retail prices on bread, milk, meat and other foods in 50 cities and from more than 1,000 stores. In the department offices at Washington the prices will be checked and the portion that the farmer is receiving for raw materials will be determined.

 The reports will also cover any price increases resulting from the payment of higher wages and new employment, and will include any changes in prices of manufactured or other commodities that farmers buy. The latter item will provide an index of the buying power of the farmer.

To Raise Hog Prices

 Under the announced plan of the Government to increase returns from hogs, farmers may sell at the regular markets their spring pigs weighing under 100 pounds and their piggy sows due to farrow within three weeks and weighing over 275 pounds at premium prices. They will receive a bonus of $4 per head plus the market price of packing sows on the day marketed, without dockage, for their piggy sows.
 For pigs is intended to pay $9.50 per hundred pounds for those weighing from 25 to 30 pounds, the prices graduating 25 cents per hundred pounds for each five pound increase in weight, to the minimum price of $6 per hundred for those weighing from 35 to 100 pounds.

 This plan contemplates the purchase and slaughter of about four million pigs and one million sows. This will effect a reduction in tonnage for the 1933-34 marketing season of probably 1,500,000,000 pounds of hogs live weight, or about 16 percent of the hog tonnage normally marketed. Such a reduction, according to past experience, should increase hog prices for the season by anywhere from 25 to 30 percent.

 Funds to handle this premium—paying emergency plan will come from a processing tax to be levied later on hogs and hog products.

Sow Bluegrass in Fall

 Experiments and observations indicate that fall is the best time to sow bluegrass seed on lawns, says N. R.
 Elliott, landscape gardening expert for the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

 September 15 is probably the best day of the year to sow bluegrass, he says. The seed germinates in 15 or 20 days, and the usual fall in Kentucky creates ideal conditions for the young bluegrass to make a good growth before winter.

 Unless the ground is very hard, such as where a path has been made across the lawn, it is not necessary to loosen the soil; simply broadcast the bluegrass seed. If there is a small area around the back door or where a path has been made, it will be advisable to loosen this, making a seedbed before the seed is sown.

 Do not sow anything except pure Kentucky bluegrass seed on a lawn that has a fair stand of grass. If there are bare spots of considerable size it will be advisable to mix a little redtop.
 One-fourth the amount, by weight, of the seed to be sown can be redtop. Do not sow white clover in the fall.

 There is no better grass for the lawn than Kentucky bluegrass, and where the conditions are at all favorable a splendid sod can be secured by seeding each fall, making the application of seed on September 15.

 Two or three pounds of bluegrass seed sown on the lawn of the average farm home will do much to improve the appearance of the home and the quality of the lawn.

CANEY

 Tobacco cutting and barn building seem to be the order of the day. Some of the best crops of tobacco of the country seem to be growing around and in Caney town.

WHAT BANKING WENT THROUGH

By JOHN H. PUELICHER

BANKING in its long career has been compelled to withstand many serious shocks, but it ran into the most perplexing entanglement of its whole history since the general breakdown of values in 1929. The commercial structure of the entire world seemed to have been shaken from its foundations and the marvel is that the banker, with everything breaking down all around him, was able to come through as he has.

 General business failures, agricultural stagnation, income losses, capital losses, inability to meet debts and therefore inability of bankers to pay back depositors when loans were not paid, were the reasons, in most instances, for the bank failures.

 No profession, no department of life is without its weaker elements, but had proper consideration been given to the relatively few instances in banking, had exaggerated and startling headlines been kept in true proportion, had banking not been used as a target for political self-seeking and with vote-seeking motives, had unfounded rumors not been spread the people's confidence might have been retained and far less serious would have been their financial losses, for many bank failures were caused that need not have happened.

 There were factors in our banking experience which every earnest banker deploras—factors which many had worked years to eliminate, which it was fearfully recognized would aggravate any difficult days which might arise. One of the worst of these was due to political regulation which characterized many banks that should never have been chartered.

 That there have been incompetence and dishonesty in banking is admitted.
 That the instances that did occur were used grossly to increase fear in the public mind, we affirm. We shall continue to strive for higher attainments in our profession and strive for laws that require competence and ability in management. That we cannot legislate honesty and unselfishness into either a banker or a borrower must be conceded, but dishonesty, wherever found, should be punished. It is as true in banking as elsewhere that no matter how good the law, dishonest and incompetent men can make it ineffective. Good laws are essential. We must strive for ever better ones, but their enforcement will come only as the public recognizes that it is a matter not of laws or codes alone but of the men who administer them.

The Public's Part

 Our people must be brought to realize that the welfare of our country depends upon its banking system, that the strength of the banking system depends upon the public's faith and understanding and the vast majority of banks, because of faithful service rendered, even through the whole of this general breakdown, had the right to expect the trust and confidence of the people.

 In every great catastrophe, no matter what its nature, no matter what its cause, someone must be crucified. The banker was this time selected. In the late 90's, political agitation started a tirade against the railroads. Some railroads may have done reprehensible things, but the agitation became so general and so violent as almost to destroy one of the fundamental factors in the progress of a country. Today the same thing has been done to the banks. In spite of all that has happened, the fact remains that even most of the banks which failed are paying out infinitely better than are investments in almost anything else.

Bankers Aiding Agriculture

 State associations of bankers in many agricultural states are giving time and financial support to encourage practices among their farmers that will bring about better farm results.

 The major activities reported from one state to the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association which is nationally active in promoting this line of cooperation are as follows:

 1. Drought relief work: Local banks have played a vital part in this work, being represented on the county committees for passing on all seed loans.
 These committees met practically every day during the spring to pass on the loans in order to get as quick action as possible. A total of 914 applications were received and handled by one committee, 833 being granted.

 2. Four-H Club work: Bankers helped stimulate 4-H Club work, financing many members who otherwise could not have enrolled. They also helped finance fifteen 4-H Club delegates to the state club convention.

 3. Livestock feeding: The banks co-operated with the Extension Service in the state and the railroads in increasing the amount of livestock feeding. Assistance was given the feeders in securing finances for their feeding operations.

 4. Crop improvement: The bankers took part in the crop standardization program of the Extension Service and encouraged the farmers to use pure seed, and in many cases made loans for this purpose.

These Menus Make Picnicking Easy

 By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
 Director, Heinz Food Institute

OCCASIONAL picnics are so much work that women often dread them.
 It is when we are in constant readiness for them that picnics become the easiest way, and one of the most enjoyable methods, of serving meals.
 Picnic preparedness means having a basket or hamper prepared with such picnicking necessities as one or more thermos bottles, salt and pepper shakers, a supply of paper tablecloths, plates, napkins, inexpensive or old cups, tablespoons, teaspoons. After each picnic, dishes and thermos are washed and replaced in the hamper with a fresh supply of paper plates and all is in readiness for the next picnic. With such provisions, a picnic may be decided upon at the last minute. Foods ready-to-serve are gathered together. Here are several menus that require little preparation beyond assembling and placing in the picnic basket.

Chilled Tomato Juice (in thermos)	Picnic Eggs*
Assorted Cold Meats	Genuine Dill Pickles
Buttered Rolls	Prepared Mustard
	Tomatoes and Lettuce Assorted Fresh Fruits or Melon
	Packaged Cakes
Cream of Pea Soup (in thermos)	Saltines
Picnic Potato Salad*	Small Whole Tomatoes
	Spanish Queen Olives
Buttered Rolls	Pure Apple Butter
	Individual Cherry Pies
	Coffee (in thermos)
Cold Baked Ham	Oven Baked Beans (in thermos)
Preserved Sweet Gherkins	Small Whole Tomatoes
Prepared Mustard	Buttered Whole Wheat Rolls
Chocolate Loaf Cake (or packaged cakes)	Chili Sauce

(*) Indicates recipes given below.

Picnic Eggs—Cool 4 hard cooked eggs, shell and cut in half lengthwise. Mash yolks, and add 3 tablespoons Sandwich Spread, and salt and pepper to taste. Refill egg whites with this mixture, place two halves together and wrap in waxed paper.
Picnic Potato Salad—Dice 5 medium size cold cooked potatoes, 1 tomato, and 1 large cucumber, add finely chopped onion, 1 teaspoonful salt, 3 frankfurters which have been cooked in boiling water, cooled, peeled and sliced, and ¼ cup Sweet Dill Pickle, chopped. Moisten the salad using Mayonnaise Salad Dressing to which has been added 1 teaspoon Prepared Mustard.

Beans in Summer

BEANS are good nourishing food, and what with baseball, swimming, hiking, tennis, golf and the keen appetites that come from them and motorizing, we need to keep up our strength. Here's a handy way to do it with beans and a little meat and cheese in a dish that

Tastes Like Outdoors

Boston Bean Croquettes with Cheese Sauce and Bacon: Mash the contents of a can of those delicious beans which are cooked in the same way as the Maine hunderjacks cook them (bean-hole beans, they are called). Add one teaspoon chopped onions, salt, pepper and one and one-fourth cups soft crumbs. Form into croquettes and roll in fine crumbs, then in a slightly beaten egg, and again in crumbs. Let stand at least fifteen minutes, then fry in deep fat (350°) until brown. Serves four.

Cheese Sauce: Melt one tablespoon butter, add one tablespoon flour, and stir smooth. Add seven-eighths cup milk slowly, stirring until smooth and thick.
 Add one-half cup grated cheese, salt, pepper, paprika, a few grains of mustard and a few drops of Worcestershire sauce. Serve over croquettes, garnishing each with a slice of bacon.*

Better Breakfasts

GETTING out of the wrong side of bed is an old fashioned excuse for being cross.
 In fact it's no longer valid, completely out of date because modern psychologists have discovered that it's not the side of the bed you get out of, but the kind of breakfast that you get into you, that decides your disposition for the day.

 So we're suggesting here a breakfast of icy fruit with a tropical tang, cereal and sweet cream, an unusual meat with cheese sauce, up-to-date toast and modern vacuum packed coffee (the only way to be sure of having fresh coffee to brew) in order to keep you from kicking the cat or committing any similar household misdemeanor so early in the morning. Here's the menu:

 Iced Melon with Fresh Lime Wedges

Puffed Cereal and Cream

Dried Beef with Cheese Sauce

Whole Wheat Toast Coffee

Dried Beef with Cheese Sauce:

 Make a cheese sauce of three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, two cups diluted evaporated milk and one-half cup of cheese. Use one-half pound of dried beef which has been pulled apart. Pour boiling water over the beef, drain it, and then pour the cheese sauce over it.*

Our Government —How It Operates

By William Bruckart

SPIRIT OF THE HOUSE

ANYONE who observes the course followed by a public official who is elected to office can hardly fail to arrive at the conclusion, eventually, that there is one characteristic common to all of them, namely, a desire, an insatiable determination, to be vindicated for what they have done.
That really is the important factor in the career of any politician, and he or she charts a course accordingly.

There is no higher exemplification of this spirit to be found anywhere than among the representatives who constitute the house. There may be a few individuals, indeed, there must be some, who fall to keep a weather-eye on the trend of the sentiment in their districts, but the number is negligible when compared with the total house membership of 435. Frequently, one hears loud pronouncements of independence on the floor of the house, vociferous declarations that the folks "back home" have been misled by propaganda or by preachment from the opposition for ulterior purposes.
But that very independence is the finest sort of an appeal for vindication because it is a simple attempt to justify the course followed, or to be followed.

But there really ought to be no quarrel with that procedure. Look behind it. Certainly, after all, the majority of voters in a congressional district sent that individual to congress. He is responsible to them.
They know it, as well as he. When he goes wrong on the "burning issue," they retire him. Thus, they attain a responsiveness to their will. The representative's vain desire for vindication of his acts results in exactly the thing for which the house was created, a proper reflection of sectional and local viewpoints, a melting pot from which emerges that thing which is called "the will of the people."

All of the above is by way of saying that the house is a highly sensitive body, politically. Receipt of mail from the home district over a period of a week, mail that deals with some particular question, has been known to change enough votes in the house to overthrow an apparent strong majority. Take for example the upset through which the house passed when it was considering the revenue act of the tax bill. Under most circumstances, party leadership controls firmly, although rather easily. But party leaders meant nothing to the house after scores of its members began hearing from "back home" in opposition to the sales tax that had been recommended for passage by its ways and means committee. Representatives of all shades of opinion were panicky. Why? Because they wanted to have the voters vindicate them at the polls in the next election and they were not sure they could convince the electorate of the propriety of their course had they supported a direct tax on things we buy.

A representative's term is only two years. Once he is elected, he necessarily must start solidifying the position thus gained. He knows that opposition will be out there in the field all of the time, making hay while he stays in Washington. It may be in his own political party or in another party. But it usually is there, just waiting for an opportunity.

Thus, the successful candidate must look to his laurels from the start, and he usually does so by fostering legislation of particular benefit to his district. He has to choose a side, however, on questions of importance to the whole nation, and on these his ordinary course—and easiest—is to align himself with his political party.
Yet oftentimes that course proves fatal.
So the life of representatives during his two-year term is just one attempt after another to guess what the majority in his district desires.

The desire for power seems to go hand in hand with the desire for vin-dication. It always has been said that, in politics, as in war, the spoils go to the victor, and the spoils accompanying control of the house are worth considering from the standpoint of well-built political fences out in the home district. The majority party in the house, as in the senate, gains the chairmanships of all committees. It means control of legislation; it means appointment of dozens of job seekers, and it means a voice in management of the party throughout the nation.
With that control goes the speakership of the house, an honor of greatest consequence to some member of the majority party. It is all a part of a great game called politics.

When all things are considered, however, when all factors and influences and causes and effects are weighed, the scales appear to balance in the side of benefit to the people.
This spirit that seems to grip every man or woman sent to the house cannot be eliminated in our two party system of government, but why should it be destroyed when the sum total of its effect is to make representation possible for a people too numerous to get together in a town hall meeting.

Ancient Greek City

Byzantium was a Greek city on the shore of the Bosphorus, occupying the most easterly of the seven hills of the modern Constantinople or Istanbul. It was founded about 657 B. C.

Born, Aug. 21, to Mr. and Mrs. John

Remorse

Remorse is something that many people claim to experience after they are hopelessly caught.

IF!

The bootlegging at St. Louis of spurious Blue Eagles was followed by prompt retribution, and the conviction in the case, reveals that the offense is punishable by a fine of $500 and six months' imprisonment, with purchaser and seller equally liable. The reader will probably be of the opinion that had the more common form of bootlegging been similarly dealt with, prohibition would have had a better chance of enforcement.—Christian Science Monitor.

GREATEST KENTUCKY FAIR IN 31 YEARS, PROMISED AT LOUISVILLE, KY., SEPT. 11 TO 16

Louisville, Ky., (Special).—In the catalogue and premium list for the coming 31st annual Kentucky State Fair in Louisville, September 11 to 16, Governor Ruby Laffoon, Commissioner of Agriculture Eugene Flowers, and State Fair Secretary, Garth K. Ferguson, join in promising the people of the Commonwealth the greatest State Fair in history.

They also join in urging the people of all parts of the State to attend this "Kentucky's Annual Get-together," the one place, they say, where people may meet each other, see their State on dress parade" and catch the inspiration of the fine exhibits which reveal the progress of the State's agriculture, its commerce and its industry, as well as the developments in the gentle arts of home making.

"All features usual to the best fairs in the nation," states Governor Laffoon, "will be present and new and novel ones will appear. The Kentucky State Fair's message this year to the citizens of our Commonwealth, and to others, will be that "Kentucky is not afraid but continues to carry on."

Commissioner Flowers says: "It is my ambition to make of the Kentucky State Fair an institution in which every citizen of the State may feel that he has a personal, vested interest. To bring this ambition, which lies so close to my heart, to a realization, requires that the people from every section of our State avail themselves of the truly wonderful opportunities they are offered for visiting and enjoying the fair and its benefits. The State Fair is regarded by Kentuckians, at home and abroad, as an annual event for them to get together for renewing old friendships and making new acquaintances with the best people of the state and elsewhere."

"which was 15 per cent greater in paid admissions," says he, than the year before. We have spared no pains this year to produce another great educational exhibit and provide a wealth of amusement and entertainment.

"In addition, says Mr. Ferguson, "we sincerely hope that whole families and neighborhoods will come again as they did last year, as there will be no other event in the State offering so much of interest and wholesome amusement. The entries are greater than ever, both in number and quality."

"Horse racing, as usual, will be the principal attraction in front of the Grand Stand for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. Nightly in front of the Grand Stand will be a brilliant fireworks spectacle, as well as a number of other amusements."

"The Horse Show, the world's greatest event of the kind, as usual, will be held in the livestock pavilion, all six days and nights, the chief attraction of which will be the $10,000 saddle horse stake, the legion saddle horse event in the world.
It will be shown in four divisions on four different nights, the grand championship being staged the closing night, Saturday, September 16.
The American Saddle Horse, the aspect of Futurity, the world's chest-colt event will be shown in these divisions, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, and Wednesday night."

"Besides these regular features," says Mr. Ferguson, "there are many
